John Doe Investigation In Ellenville Case

Order Obtained by District Attorney Traver for Hearing Before County Judge Fowler at Ellenville on March 11 Which Is Expected to Clear Up Mysteries That Have Been Basis of Many Rumors and Insinuations.

Many years have passed since the village of Ellenville and the town of Ulster have had so juicy a morsel for public consumption as the famous Arland Sanderson assault case which has kept the village in turmoil for the past several weeks, ever since Sanderson was waylaid on his way home on the evening of December 22 and beaten up by several persons attired in white robes, resembling somewhat the robe of the Ku Klux Klan.

Since that eventful evening there has been much talk, much action and considerable investigation by the various branches of the law. So far nothing definite has been accomplished although the State Troopers, the village authorities and Pinkerton detectives have been on the trail. Dame Rumor Very Busy.

Dame Rumor has gone so far as to charge that the county authorities, State Troopers and village authorities have not made known all the facts available to them and that someone is being protected. It is also charged that the investigating authorities are allied with the white-robed party committing the assault and that certain parties are being protected.

These rumors have come to District Attorney Traver and he has determined to give everyone who knows or claims to know anything of the affair an opportunity to impart their information to the courts.

Order for John Doe Proceedings. On information sworn out by Mr. Traver an order has been made and on March 11, at 10 o'clock in the morning, County Judge Joseph M. Fowler sitting at Ellenville in a courtroom will give "everyone" an opportunity to tell his or her story.

In order that there may be no charges of interested parties sitting in Judge, County Judge Fowler will preside. Justices of the peace and police justices of the town, were they in the case, would undoubtedly be charged with being interested and conducting the investigation in a partial manner to someone.

Subpoenas have been issued and are now in the process of being served on those who know or who claim to know anything of the affair. It is expected that some fifty witnesses will be examined.

Overturn of Alleged Assault. The whole transaction grows out of an alleged assault by unknown parties on one Arland Sanderson, a bus driver, living near the village limits on the Kingston highway. It is alleged that on December 22 Sanderson had put his bus in a garage for the night and was proceeding home on foot when, near his home, which is in a thinly settled portion of the village, he was set upon by several white-robed persons and assaulted. His person was blackened and he was beaten up considerably. The alleged cause for the affair is said to be his attention to Mrs. Turner, married, who resides near Sanderson. Sanderson is also married. It is alleged that the assault was in the nature of a warning to Sanderson to quit his attention to Mrs. Turner. The warning party consisted of four men in white robes.

K. K. K.—Pro and Con.

Rumor as spread by some is to the effect that the men were K. K. K. members who were acting under direction of the Klan. They claim the Klan in the vicinity of Sanderson is active and that included in its membership are influential men who have their influence to prevent justice being done. Rumor has gone so far as to say that the Klan is being protected and that is why there have been so many arrests in the case.

Other stories spread are to the effect that the four men were not members of the Klan but were disguised as such to divert suspicion to the Klan and thus escape themselves. Sanderson is unable to identify any of the men who attacked him or to give any description which might be of value to the authorities. So far Sanderson has been to appear and swear to any statements upon which a John Doe proceeding might be based and the proceeding is to be held at Ellenville on March 11 to be brought at the hands of the district attorney in an effort to determine if anyone is withholding facts and if the authorities are attempting to protect anyone.

Baroness Derlanger Dies.

Paris, Feb. 22 (AP).—The death of Baroness Frederick Derlanger is announced by the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune. She was a daughter of John S. Liddell, who was confidential commissioner to France. She was 84 years of age.

Chief of Police Curry of Ellenville is involved in the matter and is being protected. Stories of friction between the Troopers and other authorities are frequently told.

Last week when these several rumors, and probably many more, were received by District Attorney Traver he took a hand in the matter and immediately took steps to institute John Doe proceedings so that everyone might have an opportunity to tell his or her story.

John Brown, a police officer of the village, contends that Chief Curry, who is a brother-in-law of Sanderson, told him on the night of the assault not to pay any attention to the red-robed party in the village if he saw it. Brown says Curry also told him that the State Troopers would not pay any attention to the light if it flashed and that he also said that Sanderson was going to have a scare that night and that the Ku Klux Klan was going to give it to him.

Author Attempts To Stop His Play

William F. Dugan, Author of "The Virgin Man", Raided Play Being Presented Under Injunction Protection Attempts to Halt Performance.

New York, Feb. 22 (AP).—A contrite author and producer was free today to continue court approval his fight to close his own play after his arrest when he camped on a couch on the stage last night in a vain effort to halt the performance.

William Francis Dugan, author of "The Virgin Man", raided Broadway play being presented under injunction protection, today had aligned himself with the district attorney to win the favor of authorities when charges of producing an immoral show are heard against him in special sessions.

Dugan's spectacular gesture at reformation delayed last night's performance a half hour until he was arrested, and revealed Mack Cohen and Jacob Cromberg as two other partners in the show. They were not arrested when the play was raided.

Dugan was discharged by Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky on charges of attempting to prevent the performance and using boisterous language in the theatre lobby.

"No doubt this play and others are nuisances," said Magistrate Brodsky. "It is too bad that the authors of all indecent plays did not take action to stop them before they were produced."

"You want me to be the goat do you?" said Dugan to Cohen in their sooty performance behind the curtain. "I'm the boss when it's a case of getting arrested, but you're the boss when it's all safe under a supreme court injunction."

Dugan turned to a policeman called by Cohen. "Don't you see I'm fighting on your side, officer?" the author asked. "I'm doing what the police department wants. I'm trying to carry out your wish."

Cohen and Dugan each maintained he managed the show and the other hesitated when Dugan's arrest was demanded.

"I'll arrest him," Cohen told the policeman. "Now I call on you to assist me." Dugan was hustled to the police station and the show went on.

"The authorities are mad," declared Dugan yesterday as he recovered the defiant attitude maintained since his arrest ten days ago. "They are real mad. They're going to get somebody, and it isn't going to be me. From now on I'm on the side of the police and district attorney."

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Diaz Sends Plans For New Treaty

Details of Proposition Have Not Been Divulged by Officials—American Marines Implanted Along Railroads.

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Interest in the military aspects of the Nicaraguan situation has been dwarfed in official circles by receipt by the Washington government of a preliminary draft of proposals by President Diaz for a new treaty with the United States.

Although details of the proposition, which American Minister Eberhardt has forwarded by mail to Washington, have not yet been received, and officials refuse to divulge their general nature, it is understood that the proposal provides for the protection of Nicaragua from external attack or internal disorders brought about by outside interference in her affairs.

State department officials have also declined to intimate what this government might be or to say whether they were formulated by Diaz after conferences with Minister Eberhardt.

It was recalled in some quarters, however, that the treaty by which the United States acquired the rights to a canal route across Nicaragua also permits the use of Nicaraguan territory to a certain extent of this country for Panama Canal defense, and that in view of this treaty, the Diaz suggestions might be for negotiating a treaty similar to the new American-Panama pact. The latter calls for cooperative defense of the Panama Canal and, it is presumed, permits American assistance in preventing internal disorders instigated or inspired by any third country in Panama.

Meanwhile, American marines and bluejackets are firmly implanted along the Corinto-Managua railroad in Nicaragua and in the hill fortifications at Managua known as the Loma, the latter force having been moved from barracks inside the town to strengthen the protective circle around the country's capital against possible attacks from the Liberal forces of Juan B. Sacasa.

LAST CHILD HYGIENE CLINIC HERE WEDNESDAY.

The last of the series of child hygiene clinics that have been held every Wednesday afternoon during the month will be held tomorrow afternoon at the city hall at 2:30 o'clock. The subject to be discussed will be communicable diseases and Dr. Donald Combs, city health officer, will attend and speak.

Two Arrests Monday.

William Faberman of No. 116 St. James street was arrested Monday by Sergeant Simpson on a warrant obtained by Mr. Faberman, who charged her husband with assault in the third degree. Today the hearing was adjourned to Thursday.

Robert Smith, a teacher, arrested for public intoxication on Broadway Monday, was sentenced to five days in jail.

State Historian Ends Pageant

Farm and Home Bureau Plan for County Pageant Next Summer Discussed With Pageant Committee—Date to Be Announced Later.

Dr. Alexander C. Flick, the state historian, and Peter Nelson, executive secretary, were in Kingston Monday in conference with the Pageant Committee of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau and Chamber of Commerce, which held a luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton. Senator Wicks was also present and Assemblyman Millard Davis presided as chairman of the joint committee.

Dr. Flick is the author of the recently published history, "The American Revolution in New York," written with a view to impressing the fact that there were forces, causes and results as worthy of study as the mere recital of military maneuvers that usually makes up the bulk of written history. In a brief statement to the Pageant Committee, Dr. Flick emphasized this fact and cordially endorsed the pageant idea as a method that would impress upon the people as nothing else would the political, social and industrial phases of history.

The state was born here in Kingston, Dr. Flick said, the first governor was inaugurated here, the legislature held its first meetings here and the Supreme court first functioned here. Kingston was a most important center of the civic functions of the new state, which were of more importance in their bearing on the future than battles. The real revolution was in men's minds and hearts, which later led them to fight.

Definite decision as to the date of the pageant will be made at a later meeting of the committee.

"HUNKY DOODLE TOWN" SCORES ANOTHER HIT.

The rural musical comedy "Hunky Doodle Town" scored another triumph Monday night when it was presented in St. Mary's School Hall for the benefit of the Beneficent Hospital. The enterprise was a success financially and the little members of St. Mary's Junior Dramatic Club and their director, Mrs. E. P. Ward, were commended on the excellent presentation of the comedy.

Interdictory Decree of Divorce.

An interdictory decree of divorce has been granted by Justice G. D. B. Hathcock in the Supreme court in favor of plaintiff in the action of Minnie D. Freer for an absolute divorce from Randall W. Freer.

The parties were married in Kingston, June 25, 1912. Minnie of 612 a week in allowed plaintiff, and defendant is ordered to pay Minnie $125 to plaintiff's counsel as fees. Further and Combelly are attorneys for plaintiff.

Dance Music for The K. of C. Ball

The Southland Serenaders and The Imperial Orchestra Will Play For Dancing at Charity Ball—Notes Temor Secured.

An exceptional treat is in store for music lovers and dancers, who will attend the Knights of Columbus Charity Ball on Friday evening of this week at the New York State Armory. The Southland Serenaders, a review with fourteen people, who have created something of a sensation in and around New York city music circles and the local Imperial Broadcasting Orchestra will render the music for this social event. Besides the dance orchestras there will also be a musical entertainment, that promises to be well worth the price of admission alone.

One of the features of the entertainment will be presented by Horace A. Ruwe, celebrated tenor. Mr. Ruwe is well known to many Kingstonians, who have heard him in many leading tenor roles, chief of which were "Gilbert & Sullivan Operas" with De Wolf Hopper, "Gipsy Love" with Andreas Dippel, several seasons with Keith & Albee vaudeville, tenor with Ziegfeld Follies of 1927, tenor with "Buddies" with Donald Brian, Peggy Wood and Ralph Morgan, juvenile with "Ted Lewis's Frolic" with Morrissey's Chatter Box Quartet. Leading man with the Chicago Company of "Rose Marie". One year at the nationally advertised "Hollywood Beach Hotel", Hollywood, Florida, giving concerts.

Mr. Ruwe spent six months at the Hollywood Golf and Country Club in association with Elsie Janis, Van & Schenk and other celebrities. He also toured with one of the most noted concert bands in the United States, that of Caesar La Monica. Mr. Ruwe also toured with Arnold Johnson and his Victor Recording Orchestra.

As a boy Horace A. Ruwe was soprano soloist in two of New York's largest and best boy choirs, St. Thomas and Grace Church. While in the boys' choir he participated in many concerts with Will C. MacFarlane, one of America's most prominent and capable organists.

American Homes Damaged by Shells

No Foreign Casualties When Chinese Gunboat Makes Unsuccessful Attempt To Shell Kiangnan Arsenal—Beheadings Effective.

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP).—A Chinese gunboat, stationed in the Whangpoo river, which had been turned over to the nationalist government, today attempted unsuccessfully to shell Kiangnan arsenal, once one of the greatest in China. Five shells dropped in the French concession nearby, and residences of two Americans were damaged. Two Chinese were killed, but there were no foreign casualties.

French concession volunteers, special police and French marines were mobilized for patrolling the streets of the French concession, which is separate from the international settlement.

The American residences damaged were those of William Rae and F. W. Schlobohm. The residences of R. H. T. Wade and Mrs. M. R. Harris, British subjects, and the old French Club, also were hit.

Mrs. Rae and her children fled from their home. A shell exploded in a bedroom of the Schlobohm home.

The executioner's knife continued to swing through the ranks of strike agitators here today, although on a smaller scale than on Saturday and Sunday, when 30 fomenters of the present industrial trouble were beheaded by Marshall Sun Chuan-fang's authorities in their effort to keep down the demonstration.

Beheadings Effective. The beheadings have been effective in bringing strikers back to work, although they also have greatly increased the activities of the agitators, who now are directing their affairs from the international settlement. As long as they remain in the settlement they are furnished a degree of safety because police of the native city have no jurisdiction in the foreign colony and the practice of international settlement officials has been to surrender no person arrested there for political activities.

In spite of the improvement it was estimated there were 100,000 still on strike. With partial resumption of the postal services, all international settlement bureau service and with nearly all trains running, however, the situation was a little brighter despite the fact that local shipping remained tied up.

Li Pao-Ching, Marshal Sun's defense commissioner for Shanghai, issued a proclamation which was posted at the main post office declaring that any employee not returning to work would be executed. This ended all picketing at the post office and brought many postal employees back to work.

Anti-British Agitation. It is noteworthy that there still is no sign of anti-foreign strike feeling, although increased anti-British agitation was reported up the Yangtze river. At Ichang Chinese pilots were being intimidated and American ships were threatened for carrying British passengers, while at Changsha the labor unions threatened to "condemn" to death all Chinese remaining in British employ and all those supplying necessities to the British.

Another battalion of Sukhoi troops landed here today, occupying quarters recently used by Punjabi troops on the race course. The Punjabis were sent back to Honk Kong this afternoon.

The problem of providing space for British troops here, which threatened to become acute, was satisfactorily solved when the British consul general applied to the municipality for permission to use the municipal park. The municipality not only agreed to this, but estimated all municipal property would be placed at the disposal of military forces if required. Previously the British troops were quartered only on British property.

Managers' Meeting Postponed.

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Setting in motion today the movement for a great celebration of George Washington's 200th anniversary in 1932, President Coolidge in an address to Congress described the first of the nation's leaders as a man who had a very high standard of public and private honor and as one whose record as a practical business man had never received the attention to which it was entitled.

The President's address to a joint session of the Senate and House was arranged to put into practical operation the plans for the 1932 celebration, and through a nationwide hookup of radio broadcasting stations millions of persons throughout the nation heard the extolling of Washington as a "self made man" and as a "man of affairs."

"He was an idealist in the sense that he had a very high standard of private and public honor," Mr. Coolidge said. "He was a prophet to the extent of being able to forecast with remarkable vision the growth of the nation he founded and the changing conditions which it would meet. But essentially he was a very practical man. He analyzed the problems before him with a clear intellect. Having a thorough understanding he attacked them with courage and energy, with patience and persistence."

Declaring the facts of Washington's life, though a matter of record, were not easily accessible, the President said that many books written about him, "often scholarly and eloquent," had encountered the temptation to represent him as an heroic figure composed of superlatives and that the real man among men, "the human being subjected to the trials and temptations common to all mortals, has been too much obscured and forgotten."

"When we regard him in this character," Mr. Coolidge continued, "and have revealed to us the judgment with which he met his problems, we shall all the more understand and revere his true greatness. No great mystery surrounds him; he never relied on miracles. But he was a man endowed with what has been called uncommon common sense, with tireless industry, with a talent for taking infinite pains, and with a mind able to understand the universal and eternal problems of mankind."

Text of Address.

President Coolidge's address in full was as follows:

My fellow Americans:

On the 22d day of February, 1932, America will celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Wherever there are those who love ordered liberty, they may well join in the observance of that event. Although he belongs to us, yet by being a great American he became a great world figure. It is but natural that here under the shadow of the stately monument rising to his memory, in the Capital City bearing his name, the country made independent by his military genius, and the Republic established by his statesmanship, should already begin preparations to proclaim the immortal honor in which we hold the Father of our Country.

In recognition of the importance of this coming anniversary, more than two years ago the Congress passed a joint resolution establishing a commission, which was directed to have this address made to the American people reminding them of the reasons and purpose for holding the coming celebration. It was also considered that now would be an appropriate time to inform the public that this commission desires to receive suggestions concerning plans for the proposed celebration and to express the hope that the states and their political subdivisions under the direction of their governors and local authorities would soon arrange for appointing commissions and committees to formulate programs for cooperation with the Federal Government when the plans begin to be matured they should embrace the active support of educational and religious institutions, of the many civic, social, and fraternal organizations, agricultural and trade associations, and of other numerous activities which characterize our national life.

Completed The Real Man.

It is greatly to be hoped that out of the studies pursued and the investigations made a more broad and comprehensive understanding and a more complete conception of Washington, the man, and his relation to all that is characteristic of American life may be secured. It was to be expected that he would be idealized as his countrymen. His life as a "self made man" is what we are to learn.

Frank Mills Was Bitten by Monkey

Assistant Superintendent Frank Mills of the board of public works was attacked by a monkey at the municipal building on East O'Reilly street on Sunday and bitten in the hand. The wound is a nasty one. The monkey is a member of the city zoo and during the summer months spends the time in the monkey house at Forest Park. In the winter the monkeys are housed in the municipal building.

Sunday the monkey that attacked Mr. Mills had been released from its cage and was roaming around the building. There were some lunch boxes on a bench and Mr. Mills reached over to remove one of the boxes when the monkey sprang at him, inflicting the wound in the hand. Mr. Mills had the wound treated at the Kingston City Hospital.

Legislature Will Adjourn March 25

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—The 1927 session of the New York Legislature probably will be adjourned on March 25.

The Assembly adopted a resolution last night designating March 19 as the final legislative day, but Senate leaders indicated that they would have the resolution amended so as to change the date to the 25th. Majority Leader Knight believed it would be impossible for the Legislature to wind up its work in an efficient manner at any earlier time. Adjournment was taken last year on April 19.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRE

Road's Kingston Theatre will present "Faust" tonight in connection with four vaudeville acts of the Keith-Albee circuit.

The Auditorium Theatre will screen the photoplay "The Fighting Marine," starring Gene Tunney. The special attraction for the week is a dancing act by Vincent Van Buren and Helen Cashin. The performance is for the benefit of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Orpheum Theatre will produce "Rolling Home" with Reginald Dwyer, also four vaudeville acts.

"Substitutes Which Reduce Costs"

At the regular weekly Home Service classes, which will be held on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., and Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the home service auditorium at 5 Field Court, Miss Fannie C. Kinn, Central Hudson home service director for Kingston, will demonstrate "Substitutes which reduce costs." If the housewife knows the less expensive foods which may easily substitute for the costly ones, and which prove just as appetizing, she can save a large sum toward the things which she really wants to purchase. The home service department has made a real study of this subject and is prepared to give the housewives of Kingston some interesting results of its work.

Italian Aviator On Daring Flight

Commander de Pinedo on Four-Continent Aeronautical Expedition "For the Glory of Fascist Italy" Start Trip from Cape Verde Islands.

Porto Praya, Cape Verde Islands, Feb. 22 (AP).—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italy's intrepid aviator, has started his hazardous 1,432-mile Transatlantic flight from the Cape Verde Islands, to the island of Ferdinand Noronha, off the Brazilian coast. He took the air in his seaplane Santa Maria at Port Canico about twelve miles from Porto Praya, at 1:10 this morning.

Commander de Pinedo has made several attempts in the last few days to start, but he could not get the plane to rise because of the weight of the great amount of fuel taken aboard for the long journey. Before he left this morning he lightened the weight considerably by reducing his fuel supply.

Commander de Pinedo is on a four-continent aeronautical expedition "for the glory of Fascist Italy." He started from Cagliari, Sardinia, February 14, and the same day reached Rabat, French Morocco, in a 1,000-mile hop. Next day he flew another 1,000 miles to Villa Cisneros, West Africa, and then to Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, from which place he planned to fly direct across the southern Atlantic to Port Natal, Brazil. But this plan had to be abandoned because the plane refused to rise with the heavy load of fuel required for a non-stop Transatlantic flight.

In accordance with his changed plans he flew to Dakar, French Senegal, and thence the 200 miles to the Cape Verde Islands, arriving there last Saturday. After reaching the Brazilian coast, the itinerary of the Santa Maria calls for stops at Jamaica, Cuba, New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

The people of Italy have been intensely enthusiastic over the de Pinedo expedition, hoping that he could make the hop across the Atlantic before Major Tadeo Larrabee, Uruguayan aviator, whose plans for a flight across the ocean from Marina di Pisa, Italy, to Montevideo, Uruguay, were announced with the start of Commander de Pinedo from Sardinia.

The Uruguayan flyer is now at Malaga, Spain, having reached there in two hops, from Marina di Pisa. Whether he will attempt a flight direct from Africa to the South American mainland or stop at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, depended on atmospheric conditions.

Italy Turns Down Naval Proposal

Scrapping Hopes of Washington Officials For Conference and Ultimate Agreement—Reasons Given For Refusal.

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Italy, like France, has turned thumbs down on the American five power naval limitation proposal and thus has apparently scrapped the hopes of Washington administration officials for a conference and ultimate agreement among the five leading naval powers for lighter battle craft restriction.

Since Japan has accepted the suggestion as originally advanced by President Coolidge, but with a stipulation that discussions not begin before June 1, it remains only for Great Britain to disclose her attitude on the extension of the Washington capital ship limitation treaty to cruisers, destroyers and submarines. On her position appears to rest the prospects for a three power understanding or regional agreement to limit auxiliary craft.

The Italian reply, made public last night by the state department, expressed that government's unwillingness to discuss naval limitation agreements, declaring "there exists an undeniable interdependence of every type of armament of every single power and furthermore that it is not possible to adopt partial measures between only these five large naval powers."

Should Be Universal.

"The Italian government," the reply added, "thinks that the limitation of armaments, to be effective to the ends referred to by Mr. Coolidge, should be universal and results in this connection that the example of Washington was not accepted by the minor naval powers and that the conference held at Rome in February, 1924, for the extension of the principles of the Washington treaty to the powers not signatory thereto was a failure."

Further reason given for her refusal to accede to the proposal was that Italy, by reason of its "unfavorable geographical position, cannot expose itself without grave risks to a binding limitation of its maritime armaments, which are already insufficient to the needs of its defense."

So blunt was the reply. In the opinion of some officials, that it appeared to leave little way for concealing misunderstandings of the American proposal such as Secretary Kellogg has indicated he saw in the French refusal.

The phraseology employed indicated the Rome government's belief that the Coolidge proposal contemplated a reduction in cruiser, destroyer and submarine strength, whereas only restriction of tonnage limitation was proposed for such class of ships, and Italian and French replies were not even included in the proposed extension of the Washington treaty to auxiliary craft.

WASHINGTON'S ANCESTRY

And now we learn that George Washington, formerly understood to be a Virginian of clearly-traced English descent, was in reality "a Swede," or so Dr. Amandus Johnson, former professor of Scandinavian languages in the University of Pennsylvania, recently announced in Chicago. Prof. Johnson bases his conclusion on two facts, one of which is that Washington was a member of the Scandinavian Society of Philadelphia. But there is similar proof that he was an Irishman, for he was also a member of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in the same city. Doubtless it was an honorary membership in both cases, and this a result of the first President's friendly desire to encourage such societies when the Federal government was located at Philadelphia. The other "fact" or surmise is that Washington's English ancestors came originally from Sweden, because "all the invaders were called Danes, although they were Scandinavians and Germans of all kinds." Presumably this refers to the Danish conquest between 979 and 1016. Similar reasoning could prove that Washington was a Frenchman, for the Norman conquest less than half a century later was more profound as well as more lasting in its effects. Washington was an American son of the composite English race, but how much blood he had from the original British or Celts, how much from the invading Saxons and Danes (perhaps including Swedes), and how much from the Norman-French, not the most tireless calculator could ever figure out. It has been estimated that a man going back only 300 years, allowing four generations to a century, would find that he had 4,096 ancestors. How many would he find if he went back a thousand years to the Danish conquest of England? This question conveys some idea of the tenacity of the Scandinavian blood that could have survived in George Washington.

Prof. Johnson is equally certain that Theodore Roosevelt, who was proud of his Dutch ancestry, was also "a Swede," because "one of his mother's ancestors was a member of the Swedish colony in Delaware" and because "the presence of Swedish chromosomes in Roosevelt's blood, although unknown to him," is indicated by "his interest in Scandinavian literature" and by "his hunting proclivities." In other words, unless he have Swedish "chromosomes" in his blood no man can be interested in Iboen or even enjoy hunting big game!

STATISTICS OF SUICIDE.

The suicide of 13 young college and high-school students within a few weeks has caused a looking into the records of self-destruction and brought out certain facts which are of interest even though they may not be helpful. We read that, though there are few broad conclusions that may be safely accepted, it appears to be established that suicide in most European countries is increasing; that it varies with religion as well as with nationality, the rate being "higher among Protestants than among Roman Catholics and Jews"; that it is three or four times as high among men as among women; that it is higher in the cities than in the rural districts; and that it is higher in the summer months than in winter.

There have been some "epidemics" of suicide, notably in Germany and Russia. In the latter after the failure of the 1905 revolution suicide clubs were common and the figures startling. During the period before the World War Germany's suicide rate was three times as high as England's and twice as high as America's. It is notable that England's rate at present is lower than even notwithstanding her industrial depression and war prosperity. Our rate largely increased after the arrival of the twentieth century, then declined, increased again, and declined once more. At the beginning of these various suicide waves were much better off. It is stated that, up to a date years ago, "the rate of suicide was decreasing."

"In Sweden and in a few other European countries," says Dr. Johnson, "the rate of suicide has been decreasing since the late 19th century."

his eightieth birthday, and, like too self-assured Luther Burbank, Mr. Edison was absurd enough to venture to answer in the negative. The fact that Burbank and Edison have performed great service is no reason why they should be regarded as oracles when they get beyond their depth, nor any reason why their utterances on subjects which they know nothing about should interest anybody.

Consistently "dry" Iowans will either have to modify their principles or stop eating bread. Two prominent chemists of their state, after examining loaves from both bakeries and housewives' ovens, announce that the alcohol in the bread of that section varies from .04 to 1.9 per cent. And even in beverages the law allows only one-half of one per cent.

LISTENING TO EYE MURMURS.

You are aware of course of the method your doctor has of examining your heart or lungs by means of the stethoscope, which is an instrument that increases the volume of the natural sounds of the heart or lungs, and also brings out any sounds that are not normal. Thus murmurs of the heart, and sticky, dry, or even musical noises in the breathing are greatly increased, and readily heard. But now we have a Russian scientist who is applying a form of stethoscope to the eye, and actually detecting murmurs there that indicate the general condition of the body itself.

It was found that in anemic children, that is children with poor blood, that a perceptible murmur could be heard over the first beat of the heart.

That it was a murmur from the blood vessels supplying the eye was proven by the fact that when the big artery in the neck that supplies the eye with blood was pressed firmly the murmur disappeared. It was found that the louder the murmur the more severe was the anemia. The examination is made by applying the stethoscope gently to one eye while the child keeps his other eye open and holds his breath for a few seconds.

Of course there are many other methods of diagnosing anemia because the blood itself tells the story. The youngest however is usually pale, doesn't want to eat, is usually tired, is considered lazy. He gets complaints of stomach ache, and is "picky" about his food.

Now this anemia may be due to loss of blood from bleeding anywhere, but is usually due to destruction of the little blood corpuscles by some infection in the system.

Although sunlight is worth much to us, nevertheless it has been found that factory workers and miners who work underground all the time are not afflicted with anemia to the extent one might expect, although there is the pallor of the skin of course.

It has been found that lack of food and fruits together with some infection, perhaps from teeth or tonsils, often the underlying cause. This method then of getting one more proof of severe anemia in the patient will be useful to the physician.

However the removal of infections, eating good food, and plenty of fresh air, will give youngsters good rich blood.

The Bequest of Nicomedes
THE bequest of an entire kingdom, intended as an embarrassment rather than a gift of fortune, and at first so regarded by the legatee, turned out to mark the beginning of an unprecedented period of growth and expansion for imperial Rome and to be the opportunity of a lifetime for the aristocrat Lucullus.

In the year 75 B. C. King Nicomedes, the embittered old ruler of Bithynia, died bequeathing his kingdom to the Roman republic. It was not the first bequest of the sort. The king of Pergamum some years before had started the fashion and Alexander II in the year 323 B. C. had bequeathed the Kingdom of Egypt to Rome. The bequest of Alexander had been declined, Rome confining herself to acceptance of the king's treasury and evading the responsibility of extending her rule to the Egyptians.

The gift of Bithynia constituted a threatening embarrassment for Rome and undoubtedly that was the purpose of Nicomedes. Conservative statesmen counseled refusing it, but the public's thirst for grandeur and the influence of greedy financiers prevailed against the nobles and the bequest was accepted. It meant war with the able and powerful Mithridates, king of Pontus. Lucullus, one of the consuls for the year, perceived in the campaign against Mithridates an opportunity for great glory. He completed successfully to win the command.

Mithridates gathered an army of 150,000 to repel the Romans, enlisting aid of all the Greek cities of the East. He also concerted an agreement with Sertorius, rebellious Roman governor of Spain. At the siege of the Roman stronghold of Cyzicus the Pontic soldiers were reduced to eating their dead comrades before the king would raise the siege. Lucullus, with a small army of 30,000, defeated Mithridates in a long campaign and eventually destroyed his army.

The victory over Mithridates established the supremacy of Rome in Asia and gave birth to a new era of aggressive conquest. His success also changed the character of Lucullus. He had been famed as a stern, austere and self-denying aristocrat of the old school; now he abandoned himself to much orgies of eating, drinking and sensual luxury that his name has come down the ages as a byword.

LITTLE HUNGARIAN GIVES PLEASING PIANO RECITAL.

The studio of Mrs. Gladys Katschke, Millis, N. Y., 97 Clinton avenue, was the scene on Monday evening of a most unusual piano recital. The entire program was given by a little eight-year-old musician, Phyllis Broadhead, receiving only as much assistance from her teacher as was necessary in the playing of two duets.

That so youthful a student of the piano could prepare such a program of all in remarkable. All of the numbers but the duets she had memorized and played with confidence. She also had a rare sense of rhythm that was very pleasing. One little number, "My Dream," a most satisfactory composition, was Phyllis's own composition.

The little soloist was heartily applauded by her many friends and playmates present, and received a pretty basket of flowers from her playmates as well as a bouquet of spring daisies. The full program follows:

It also came Thomas Paine may be said to have influenced the preparation and adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

Roadside Stand Is Great Asset

Buy Direct from Producers—Can See What He Gets; and Pays Cash—Profits Depend on the Manager.

Shack, N. Y., Feb. 22 (AP).—The roadside stand is a great asset to the farmer and consumer to deal directly with the producer, thereby eliminating middlemen, and thereby reducing speculation, according to Dr. U. P. Hedrick, of the horticulture research division at the New York state agricultural experiment station at Geneva, N. Y., speaking before a Farmers' Week group here today.

"In this type of market, the buyer pays cash. This stimulates square dealing and saves the seller credit losses and bookkeeping costs.

"Roadside stands also stimulate the sale of a greater variety of products than the producer would be able to sell otherwise, and enable him to sell his by-products and much produce that would be too perishable to ship to distant markets.

"To meet the demand, the fruit grower must produce varieties adapted to the trade and a greater range of varieties than he could ship to distant markets. These should provide fruit all during the season, and this must be more attractive and better quality than that usually produced for large markets that has to be packed and shipped.

"Special packages that are adapted to the roadside stand should be used," Dr. Hedrick said, and these should be more attractive but need not be so strong as those for other purposes.

"The things which affect the profitability of these stands are: Appearance, which depends somewhat on care given the stand, and the courtesy and energy of the owner."

Nobody is so destitute of friends in the morning as the alarm clock.

Must Have Grades for New York Eggs

Standardized Products from Other Sections Making Competition Marketing School Arranged.

To meet the competition of egg producers in other sections of the United States who are selling well-packed and well-standardized eggs in Empire State markets, New York poultrymen must have definite grades and standards and improved methods of packing, and must live up to them, says Professor C. K. Powell of the poultry department at the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

"If 500 cases of local eggs arrive at a New York market, they have come from approximately 250 shippers and represent 250 different kinds of grading and packing. The result is that buyers must open every case and buy them on inspection," he says.

The poultry department at the college, of which Professor Powell is a member, in an effort to teach New York poultrymen the importance of quality, and good packing, grading, shipping, and selling, will conduct a poultry marketing school at the college during the week of February 28 to March 5.

The first two days of the school will be devoted to the preparation and selling of market poultry.

"It is becoming very profitable for many farmers to dress their own poultry and sell it locally, and the school is intended to help promote this method of marketing."

Questions concerning the school and the program should be addressed to the poultry department at Ithaca, N. Y.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, Feb. 21.—There was no service in the Methodist church on Sunday on account of the severe snow storm. The pastor, the Rev. N. J. Hess, was also ill and unable to come.

Mid-week prayer service will be held at the home of F. S. Osterhout on Wednesday evening. These meetings are largely attended.

The Christian Endeavor held a business meeting in the hall Friday evening, which was well attended. There were forty-three present. A free social was held in connection with the meeting, at which all enjoyed themselves very much.

The Ladies' Aid will meet to sew at the home of Mrs. C. E. Wood Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Emma Karklin of New York is visiting friends in this place for a few days.

The Adult Bible Class will be held at the home of the Rev. B. C. Ross Tuesday night, February 22, at 7:30.

A surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. George Slicker Thursday night, February 17. Music and singing furnished the entertainment for the evening and was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served.

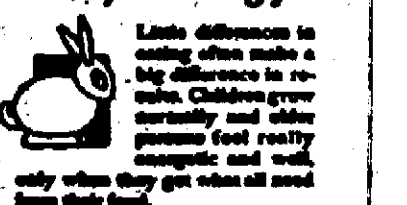

Those present were: Mrs. John Brooks and son, Willie. Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Smith, May Bogart, Mrs. Mary Coons, Mrs. W. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bogart, Mr. and Mrs. T. Sakilbeck, Mrs. Millie Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Smith, Mrs. J. Atkins, Mrs. H. Elmendorf, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter, Mr. and Mrs. James Bush and daughter, of Olive Bridge, and Mr. and Mrs. George Slicker and John Hyer.

Peter (who has been stung by a nettle)—"Mumsey, if a bee got on a nettle, would the bee sting the nettle or the nettle sting the bee?"

Rich—
body-building food

Little difference in eating often makes a big difference in results. Children grow naturally and older persons feel really energetic and well only when they get what all need from their food.

Quik's, vitamin, iron—too often these health essentials are neglected in planning meals. Now is the time when you can get the best of both worlds. Quik's is a complete food, containing all the vitamins, iron, and other essentials that your body needs.

A bowl of Quik's Mother's Oats, with milk, contains an abundance of important nourishing elements. Perfectly adapted for the most delicate stomachs, it is the most healthful and delicious food that you can eat.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known as Quik's (cups 1 1/2 to 5 minutes). Both with complete nourishment with Aunt Jonathan's recipe, good for many things you want—off-putting, etc.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Two or Three-Tone Furs Are Smart For Entire Coats, and For Trimmings or Linings—Krimmer Leads Other Felts.

Cairo, Egypt—Gray krimmer, having established itself as one of the most fashionable pelts of the season, is bringing in its wake dyed caracul. Smart it is, too.

A travel coat of more than ordinary distinction was made of a wide wale serge, oxford gray in tone, and was apparently lined, certainly colored and bound with caracul dyed to match, and having an inch-wide border of a lighter gray caracul around its outer edge. The effect was very elegant and quite unusual for the wide shawl collar extended to the edge of the coat, which was unbelted.

There is always bound to be something a bit thick in effect about a coat lined with any but the thinnest fur, but this thick, almost padded appearance is by no means frowned upon this year. The majority of the fur-lined coats that are encountered traveling about are of gazelle, squirrel, or some of the light-weight furs. Because shaded furs are approved, it is a logical development to have this treatment experimented with and introduced not only for entire coats, but for trimmings, borders and linings.

Mention has been made several times of the vogue of white fox, but until recently there has been no occasion to report it for other than evening wear. As the tourist season gets more under way in Cairo, one observes a tendency to wear white fox at tea time, and in one creditable instance it was worn with a white felt hat, the costume being otherwise black.

(Illustrating 50 of the various sizes on clothing, all suitable sizes to the home dressmaker.)

The KITCHEN CABINET

(12124, Western Newspaper Union.)

All hail to good health! you never can buy it.

Though many by using a vegetable, die.

Have lived a long life, with nerves steady and quiet.

Then listen to wisdom, ye people, and try it.

DISHERS FOR THE SICK

We must now and then remember those who are ill with a tasty dish of some sort which will appeal to the taste.

A small case made from a thick slice of bread, hollowing it out like a box, then toasting it, dip in egg white on the rim and then in parsley and fill carefully with any creamed food that is allowed. The appearance of a dish will often cause a finicky appetite to respond. Chicken, fish, sweetbreads, custards and various other dishes may be served in these small croutades.

Egg baked in cream is a most appetizing dish for one who is ill. Place a tablespoonful of cream in a ramekin and drop in an egg, season with salt, pepper and bits of butter and put to bake in a moderate oven. Set the ramekins in water while baking.

Beat the white of an egg until stiff, season with salt and drop the yolk carefully into it after placing the white on a piece of buttered toast. Put into the oven after seasoning well and cook until the egg is set.

Cream Toast.—Take two slices of dry toast and cover with the following sauce: Three-fourths of a cupful of thin cream added to two tablespoonfuls of cold milk, a bit of salt and a tablespoonful of flour. Dip the toast into boiling water and butter lightly before pouring over the sauce.

Hamburg Steak.—Make well-seasoned hamburger steak into small balls. Broil in a hot pan or over coals. Serve on a narrow strip of toast and garnish with parsley.

Fish Souffle.—Force cooked fish through a strainer. There should be a fourth of a cupful. Cook one-fourth of a cupful of milk five minutes, then add salt and paprika to taste, and one-half tablespoonful of butter. Beat the white of an egg and add to the mixture. Turn into a buttered mold or two and set into water. Bake in a moderate oven until firm. Serve with a white sauce.

Cat's Nine Lives

The notion concerning the nine lives of a cat goes back to ancient Egypt. The cat-headed goddess, Bast, was said to have nine lives. It is amazing how a thought will persist through the ages.

GET THIN WITHOUT STARVING

Millions of people have learned the way. You can see the results in every circle. Countless people all about you have attained a normal weight. Marmola Prescription Tablets embody the modern method. They combat the gland cause. No abnormal exercise or diet is required. People have used them for 19 years. They have told the results to others, until the demand for Marmola has grown to very large proportions.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box contains an explanation of why the results occur. You will always be glad if you learn at once what Marmola means to your good health and good looks.

of C. Prize Essay Contest

The Knights of Columbus with the purpose of creating a strong feeling of the high ideals upon which the Government of the United States is based and to interest especially the youth of America in the preservation of industry and the republic, have instituted a perennial essay contest for which prizes of $50 and $25 are offered respectively for the first, second and third best compositions of not more than 3,500 words and not less than 100 words.

The subject of the essay this year is "The Causes of the American Revolution". The contest started today and essays may be handed in until the time of closing, which will be April 15. All manuscripts must be typewritten.

All students of public, private and parochial high schools are eligible to enter the contest which is under the supervision of James J. Ryan of Albany, master for the district. Judges in the contest will be well known educators and the prizes will be awarded upon their decision. Students entitled to enter the contest as participants are to have the required certificate of the principal or teacher certifying that they are actually enrolled as a Junior or Senior student of the high school or academy which they are attending.

MEMBERS ELECTED BY LOCAL CORPORATIONS

Members were elected as follows at annual meetings held Monday, February 21, at the offices of the corporations in this city:

Albany Co., James F. Dwyer, John E. Weber, James A. Dwyer.
The Inspectors of election were John V. O'Connor and Agnes V. Murray.

Albany Co. and Ice Company:

LABOR WORKERS PUTS GIBBS TO WORK

Albany, N. C., Feb. 22 (AP).—Local labor shortage holds no horror for James W. S. Kirby. He puts his men to work.

Last fall he harvested nine 500-pound bales of cotton from ten acres, "seed" by three geese and 19 geese. Up until then his neighbors looked at him, but now they are asking his "system."

Former Kirby waits until the cotton plants are big enough to be too high to tempt appetites of geese. Then he turns his "hoers" into the field to feast on grass and weeds.

C. OF C. OFFICIALS ENJOY CHICKEN DINNER

The Chamber of Commerce division and officers were entertained at a chicken dinner Monday evening at the Home Service Bureau of the United Nations and Electric Light Association. The dinner was served in the room on the second floor in which the Home Service Bureau holds classes and distributes modern cooking with modern equipment. After the dinner, the guests were unanimous in praising the excellent cooking as demonstrated by Miss Kirk and her assistants.

SENATE

Sen. Feb. 22.—There will be a session of the Senate today at 10 o'clock, February 23, instead of the session Wednesday which is the day of Lent. There will also be a session on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, and the committee in charge of the proposed amendments for that day will be furnished by the Senate and the House Country Club at both sessions.

The Gray North Central men of the State Conservation Department are now busy looking over all trees in the district for signs of the spruce moth. They are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Carrigan.

Mr. Edith Biddings of New York City spent the week end over Washington's Birthday with her mother, Helen Brown, in New York on a short business trip.

The Ladies League of Seneca held their regular monthly meeting at the Seneca Hotel last Friday night after the dinner of their president, Mrs. George Lantz. Following the meeting the ladies busied themselves with sewing and making cloths. A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all, not forgetting the delicious refreshments served by Mrs. A. Snyder who was hostess for the day.

Deficiency Bill Reported to House

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP).—Carrying a total of $63,400,957 the second deficiency appropriation bill was reported today to the House.

The measure has a two-fold purpose, the meeting of deficits that have occurred in current appropriations, and the supplying of funds for work that must be done before next year's appropriations become available July 1.

Appropriations in the bill would be $6,620,106 below the amount requested by the budget bureau. The major item of $37,200,000 would be for payment of pensions, principally those to Spanish War veterans.

With the exception of a special bill to be reported next week to provide funds for carrying out the first year work on the Administration's $290,000,000 public building program, the measure is expected to be the last appropriation bill to be presented to the present congress.

Atlantic Storm Death Toll 21

Possibility of Adding Seven Others to List, Who Had Taken to Life Boats and Are Feared Drowned—Severe Snow Storm in New England.

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—The death toll of the northeast blizzard that swept the Atlantic seaboard for three days had reached 21 today with the added possibility of seven others, members of a ship's crew who had taken to life boats and are feared to have drowned. They were members of the crew of the four-masted schooner Camilla May Page, which foundered off Brigantine Beach, N. J. The body of the master of the ship, Warren Grace, was washed ashore. When coast guardsmen finally made their way aboard the ship they found the life boats missing, but no trace of the crew. The schooner was on route from Jacksonville for New York.

New England continued in the grip of a severe snow storm with several towns isolated by blocked roads, and communication hampered. The snowfall averaged a foot. The sea had subsided both off the New Jersey, New York and New England coasts. Property damage along the New York and New Jersey coasts was estimated at between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000. The New Jersey house of assembly voted a $250,000 appropriation for protection of the coast against further encroachments of the sea.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED TO HEAR HOBO-LECTURER

One of the largest crowds ever to attend Epworth Hall of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church is expected Wednesday evening when Leon Ray Livingston, internationally known hobo-lecturer, delivers his forceful address on "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight."

This famous traveler, an intimate friend of Thomas Edison, ran away from home when ten years of age and tramped over the country for thirty-one years. Mr. Livingston estimates that he traveled 520,000 miles for $7.61 by riding "blind baggage" on freight trains and for his work in preventing fires and wrecks, he now possesses passes on many railroads over the United States.

Coal Conference Ends in Failure

Joint Conference of Miners and Operators Accepts Report of Sub-Committee Which Could Not Reconcile Demands.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 22 (AP)—The joint conference of miners and operators of the unmined central competitive soft coal fields ended today in failure to reach a new wage agreement to replace the Jacksonville agreement which expires on March 31.

Adjournment sine die followed acceptance of the report of a sub-committee which could not reconcile diverse demands by the wage scale committee of miners and operators.

Unless negotiations are resumed elsewhere and an agreement reached before April 1, union miners automatically will cease labor in the central bituminous field.

The sub-committee announced its failure to agree yesterday after considering three days the Lewis and Haskins proposals received from the joint conference last Wednesday.

Ex-Gov. Harmon Of Ohio Dies

Served as Attorney General of United States Under President Cleveland—Twice Elected Governor of Ohio—Mentioned for Presidential Nomination.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 22 (AP)—Judge Harmon, former governor of Ohio, died today.

Mr. Harmon was taken ill several days ago when it was stated his ailment was believed to be of a minor nature. He was 81 years old and one of Ohio's leading lawyers and statesmen.

Judson Harmon made a notable record as a lawyer and statesman and became a figure of national prominence through his service to his home state and to the country. From the time he attained his majority until the last few years of his life he was engaged in public service most of the time. He had served as mayor, judge of common pleas and circuit courts in Ohio, attorney general of the United States and governor of Ohio for two terms.

Although never seeking the highest honor from his party, he figured prominently at several Democratic national conventions as a possible nominee for president. In 1904 the Ohio delegation was instructed for him, but at his request his name was not presented. He had a strong following in the 1912 convention and received votes on several of the early ballots.

Mr. Harmon's public service began with his election as mayor of Wyoming, Ohio, which office he held in 1876-77. In the latter year he was elected judge of the court of common pleas and two years later went on the bench of the superior court. After a service of nearly nine years he resigned March 7, 1887, to become senior member of the law firm of Harmon, Colston, Goldsmith & Header. William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, was appointed by J. B. Foraker, then governor, to succeed him on the superior court bench.

Attained National Prominence. The character of his service on two Ohio court benches and the prominence he attained in important litigation directed national attention to Judge Harmon and resulted in his appointment as attorney general of the United States by President Grover Cleveland in the latter's second administration. Judge Harmon served from March, 1895, until the end of the administration in 1897, and during that time personally conducted many important suits in which the government was involved.

Although of opposite political faith, President Roosevelt recognized the ability of Judge Harmon and in 1904 appointed him a delegate to represent the United States at the Universal Congress of Lawyers and Jurists. President Roosevelt also appointed him to investigate charges of rebate which had been filed against the Atchafalaya, Tepeka and Santa Fe Railway Company. He resigned after submitting his report sustaining the charges and after the President refused to permit prosecution of the railroad. Judge Harmon was appointed in 1899 receiver for the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad and six years later acted in the same capacity for the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, Pere Marquette and Toledo railroads.

Defeated Harding for Governor. Judge Harmon was elected governor of Ohio in 1908 and was re-elected two years later, defeating Warren G. Harding.

He was born at Newton, Ohio, near Cincinnati, February 3, 1846, the son of the Rev. R. F. Harmon and Julia Bronson Harmon. He was educated at Denison University, from which he was graduated in 1866. Three years later he received his degree in law from the Cincinnati Law School and began practice at Cincinnati. He was elected president of the Ohio State Bar Association in 1897 and the same year was named professor of law at the Cincinnati Law School.

Upon the establishment of the Cincinnati branch of the Federal Reserve Bank he was named director. Judge Harmon married Olivia Scooby, a daughter of Dr. William W. Han in June 1879. They had three daughters.

STEEL ROCKS HOUSE WAS BURNED TO THE GROUND

Shortly after midnight this morning Mr. and Mrs. John Somers were awakened from sleep by clouds of dense smoke that filled the bedroom and on investigating found the kitchen on the ground floor of their home on the Dwyer brick yard at Steep Rocks a mass of flames. A still alarm was sent in to the Central Fire Station and the fire pumper was sent to the scene. So fast had the fire gained headway that the family escaped from the house only scantily clad and none of the household furnishings were saved. The pumper was used to pump water on the house and also to save the adjoining houses. The house, which was a two-story frame dwelling, was totally destroyed. Fire Chief Murphy stated that the origin of the fire was unknown. The Somers family are sojourners and the husband is a brickyard worker.

STUD WILL ATTEND TO FLY AGAIN SOUTH FOLD

Chicago, Feb. 22 (AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd, the first man to fly an airplane over the North Pole, will attempt to fly across the South Pole in the anti-Arctic summer of 1925, he announced here.

The flight here will be in the ice harrier owned by the Polar Commission. Byrd has been working on the plans since last May. Some of the supplies will be contributed, facilities for taking off and landing will be prepared and trial flights made in the next 15 months.

An American-Japan Polar plane will be used, and the flight will be strictly secret.
